

Diane Saeger
Business Development Manager
Congruent
4205 148th Ave NE
Bellevue, WA 98007
PH: 425-460-4923
diansaeger@congruentsoft.com

October 25, 2005

"I recently had a surgical procedure to remove a suspected melanoma on my breast. The Doctor excised a significant area around the spot to be sure that if it was melanoma, the outlying areas could be tested. I had this done on Monday, October 10, 2005 and was told I wouldn't have results for ten days.

On the 18th I went to Michelle Bastian-Mathews for a healing treatment. Due to some personal trauma I was experiencing in my life, I was open to finding healing for my whole being, not just 3 inches of skin that traditional medicine was treating. Michelle worked with me for a couple of hours. During the treatment I became aware of a hard fist of tension in my midsection. Michelle concentrated on this area for some time. I felt like she was pulling layers of pain from me. It was a stubborn area, and we both felt the moment when the area relaxed; I felt energy flowing freely. I felt lighter. I felt giddy. When the treatment was completed, I felt like I was fully present. I began laughing with joy - I don't know if I can put words around the experience, but it was transforming.

I received my results from my surgery the next day. The Doctor told me I was benign. No cancer, no further treatment necessary.

There are many layers to healing. I am convinced that a multi-faceted approach has contributed to my emotional, physical and spiritual healing. I highly recommend Michelle as a skilled practitioner who allowed and supported me in this experience."

Diane Saeger